THE PHILIPPINES, A REGIONAL HUB FOR AEROSPACE

The Philippines aerospace industry is projected to become one of the fastest-growing economies in the Asia-Pacific region. Backed by the government actions to align local players' capabilities to global standards and The Philippine Aerospace Industry Roadmap, the country is gearing up to become a regional hub for manufacturing and aftermarket services in the aerospace and aviation industries in the ASEAN region

Already a key player in the region (three of the world's largest MRO providers are present in the country), the country contributes to 20% of the OEM business globally with the production of landing gear systems, actuation systems and interiors.

The industry is projected to export an estimated $2.57 billion worth of aerospace parts and components by 2022, and employ around 15,000 personnel by then.
